

April 2024 Bulletin

Welcome

The weather is gradually getting better and the rush to get field work done is about to kick off. We will have people and machines available so do ask if you need any help.

Our morning AGM with bacon rolls went down very well and a lively debate ensued over Handbook pricing. Our Handbook remains a very well respected guide and still forms the basis of calculations for businesses across Scotland including SRUC.

We are progressing member visits this year well - all members get offered a visit every three years to update their needs and supplies - if you feel a visit is required more often please tell us.
